

Home Base Food Warehouse Operation

Home-based food warehouse operations that require food handling permits are acceptable in private residences according to the following:

- ◆ All food products must be processed and packaged at an approved facility prior to being received and stored at the home base.
- ◆ Proper temperatures for the transportation and storage of the food products must be maintained.
- ◆ All food products must be properly labeled with product name, processed date and ingredients if added.
- ◆ All food products and/or related equipment used in conjunction with this operation must be stored in a designated area separate from personal belongings and household food products.
